

Smith Misquoted

Thomaston Senator Did Not Say He Opposed Principal of Pier Bill

Defeat of the Maine Port Bill, already recorded in these columns, brought disappointment to State Senator William T. Smith of Thomaston, along with vexation over an item in the Portland paper which had quoted him as opposing the bill, in principle while supporting it with his vote.

The Sunday Telegram set him right when it printed the following paragraph:

"The proponents' feeling toward the measure was well expressed in the Senate when Senator William T. Smith of Thomaston, one of the four who spoke for the measure, declared 'I am convinced that the creation of the port facilities in Portland and Rockland will result in the expansion of employment, industrial, agricultural and commercial in Maine, and that this one project will have a greater beneficial effect toward this end, not only in Portland and Rockland, but throughout all parts of the State, than any other possible aid the Legislature could give to the economic life of the State. In consequence, I regard the project not only as a profitable one for the State, but even an essential.'"

Here's Hoping Our "One-Acters" Win the New England Contest

Rockland High School is one of two Maine High Schools participating in the annual New England Drama Festival to be held at Brown University tonight and Saturday afternoon and night. Each State will send the two casts judged best in State Drama Festivals.

Rockland High School will present Jean Lee Latham's "Senior Freedom" in Faunce House Theatre at Brown. The second Maine representative is St. Francis College High School.

Members of the cast from Rockland High School include Jane Abbott, Paul Payson, Carl Gray, Elizabeth Hempstead, and Edith Carr.

Following the final production Saturday night, a prize will be awarded to the school which, in the opinion of the judges, has offered the best performance. A dance in the Faunce House Art Gallery will conclude the Festival events.

Governor Is Coming

The annual meeting of the Woman's Educational Club will be held in the Universalist vestry Friday night, May 4. Mrs. Mary Perry Rich, president continuously for 25 years, with no corresponding secretary, and no program committee, was gladdened yesterday by the receipt of a telegram stating that Gov. and Mrs. Horace A. Hildreth will surely be present. The full program will appear in Tuesday's issue.

Dr. H. W. Tweedie and G. Carl Cassens attended a meeting of Governors from all over the State at the Columbia Hotel, Portland, Saturday. Dr. Tweedie, president of the local camp, was elected State chaplain. Mr. Cassens, chaplain of the local camp, is State treasurer of the organization. Fifty-five attended the banquet Saturday night. Civil Air Patrol

Dr. Leigh Succeeds Lt. Richard Bird As Its Flight Leader

Dr. Donald T. Leigh, new Flight Leader of Knox County Civil Air Patrol

Reorganization of the Knox County Flight, Civil Air Patrol, under the leadership of Dr. Donald T. Leigh, is announced by Maj. Henry S. Beverage, executive officer of the Maine Wing.

Dr. Leigh's appointment as acting Flight Leader followed the resignation of Lt. Richard P. Bird which was accepted Tuesday by Wing Headquarters.

It is expected that the Knox County unit will become a part of a new Group Command now being organized with headquarters at Augusta. Maj. Beverage explained that this was in line with a decentralization program now underway throughout the Wing. It will provide closer co-operation and supervision of CAP activities.

Dr. Leigh said that he believed many Knox County boys were interested in the Civil Air Patrol Cadet program which provides military and pre-flight instruction on a voluntary spare time basis. He also declared that the radio communication network of the Maine Wing should be of interest to senior CAP members, especially those who operated amateur equipment before the war.

Maj. Beverage said that Civil Air Patrol was now directly under the Army Air Forces Training Command and that plans were being made for a broadened program to include a Summer encampment for cadets at Dow Field, Bangor.

Edward B. Denny, Jr., of Damariscotta was elected president of the Maine Milk Dealers Association in Augusta Wednesday.

Rockland High School Cast Offers "Senior Freedom" In Providence Contest

Members of the cast of "Senior Freedom," Jane Abbott, Elizabeth Hempstead, Edith Carr, Paul Payson and Carl Gray, together with stage manager Douglas Curtis and Lawrence Blood, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Allston Smith and Miss Relief A. Nichols left Rockland on the morning train yesterday.

The group, who stayed at the Hotel Bellevue last night, attended the comedy, "Over Twenty-One," with Ruth Gordon heading the cast. "Senior Freedom" will be presented tonight on the first day of the New England High School Drama Festival, being held at Brown University, Providence.

Rockland High won third place in the one-act play finals in Warwick, Rhode Island, in 1938, the first place being taken by the Montpelier (Vt.) High School players with a drama, "Lonesome - Like," and second place was awarded to the East Providence High School players, who presented a comedy, "Good Medicine."

The cast of Rockland High's play, "Gloria Mundi," was Virginia Wood Kunes, Gordon Richardson, Milton V. Rollins, Jr., Maxine Perry Amotte and Ruth Seabury Dalton. The capable coach was Dorothy Parker Ludwick.

Awarded The D.F.C.

Signal Honor Won By Son of a Swan's Island Woman

One of the army's highest honors—the Distinguished Service Cross—has been awarded to Corp. Edward S. Withee, husband of the former Hazel Bridges of Torrington, who is now a prisoner of the Germans. The award is for extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy Dec. 16, 1944, in Germany, during the Belgium Bulge battle.

Corp. Withee is a son of Mrs. Rosalind Torrey of Swan's Island. Corp. Withee, serving with an engineer combat battalion of the 106th (Lion) division, was with his unit when it met the full force of the German armor-spear-headed breakthrough into Belgium and held so tenaciously to important ground and key road centers that it threw Nazi plans and timetables completely out of kilter. Early in the counter-offensive, the Germans attacked the village of Auv, Germany, in force, and Corp. Withee's platoon set up a defensive position in a large house and successfully held off large forces of German Infantry.

The defense was so effective that the Germans were forced to bring up their tanks. Four of the tanks moved up and began shelling the house with 88 mm. guns from about 30 yards away. Faced with a hopeless situation, the platoon leader ordered withdrawal. Corp. Withee voluntarily remained behind to cover the withdrawal, knowing full well that death or capture would result. His only weapon was an M-3 sub-machine gun, but he kept the enemy so busy that his platoon

REMEMBER "CAMP DURRELL"?

Read Then This Snappy Account of the Reunion In Cambridge, Mass. Monday Night

At the Smith House in Cambridge, Mass., Monday night there was a reunion of some of the men who as boys or young men had been campers or leaders at Camp Durrell, operated 30 to 40 years ago by the State Executive Committee of the YMCAs of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, on Moody, formerly Crotch Island, in Friendship.

The dinner opened in true Durrell form by grace offered by Roy E. Coombs, the present State General Secretary. During the delicious dinner letters from some of those who could not be present were read, recalling among other things the trips from Camp to Rockland on which one of the thrills was the consuming of the famous "Thurlo's", the camp venacular for ice cream.

Larry Emmons, operator of Camp Becket-in-the-Berkshires which has succeeded Camp Durrell as the only camping activity of the State Committee, regaled the party with banjo selections and furnished the accompaniment for popular songs and some old Durrell favorites.

Bill Martin read short histories of some of the old steamships which were familiar to campers. There were the Bay State and Ransom B. Fuller which used to take the boys from Boston to Portland, the famous Monhegan which made the run from Portland east to Friendship and the May Archer and Jule which navigated local waters.

Stereoscopic slides of scenes about camp and Friendship bay over the years from 1903 to 1913 were thrown on the screen and the men present had a hilarious time seeing themselves and friends as they looked 30-odd years ago. Kodachromes taken recently in the same

Smalley's Own Idea

Rockland Lawyer's Letter Started the City Manager Movement

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

A communication relating to the adoption of the proposed City Manager form of local government, signed "A taxpayer and life-long resident" appeared in the last issue of your paper.

I believe the present charter activity resulted from my original suggestion, printed in your columns some time since. That letter was prepared upon my own responsibility and without consultation with parties who might also be interested and was entirely non-political in its inception; as a matter of fact it was prompted by personal observations in localities where modern methods have been adopted and applied as is now proposed in Rockland. The result of its appearance is well known; a large number of our people became identified with the movement and have devoted much time and study to preparation of a bill presented and enacted by Legislature.

In view of the foregoing and for the further reason that I have been closely identified with the progress of the movement I am impelled to suggest that if the author of the article to which I refer will subscribe his or her name or permit me, or some other member of the various committees to address him or her through your columns, facts and figures will be submitted in answer to each and every criticism that appeared therein.

It is my considered opinion that this proposed legislation is too important to permit it to become the subject of anonymous censure and theorizing when reliable data is available for the asking.

Chairman Charter Legal Committee

The Rope Shortage

Senator Brewster Enlists Some Assistance For the Maine Fishermen

Some hope of relief in the shortage of rope and twine which has been curtailing commercial fishing activities along the Maine coast is offered in a telegram from Senator Owen Brewster, Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf said today.

Brewster took action with the War Production Board in Washington after Commissioner Greenleaf had requested aid in the rope situation which was forcing many Maine fish druggers as well as lobster fishermen to keep their equipment ashore.

Brewster said that the War Production Board reported that the "tightest possible situation" existed in the rope and twine supply. But he stated that one cordage firm had been directed to send 10,000 pounds of rope and twine, per week, direct to Maine and that two other companies were being contracted and would be instructed to make immediate deliveries to the state. Brewster indicated that the "rope shortage" for this quarter was the lowest yet experienced. Total shipments will be equal to or greater than those made last year, but no real relief is in sight. May be not until supplies begin to arrive from the Philippines," Brewster concluded.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

Alcohol was discovered in the 13th century. There have been numerous recurrences of that phenomenon.

Jack Kingsley, manager of the Narragansett Hotel has an endless fund of good stories. Told one the other day how he was held up once for speeding. "I'm guilty," he told the cop, "but I know you don't want to break up a happy home." "How's that?" inquired the officer. "Well you see," said the veteran horseman, "I am supposed to be in Chicago, and if it gets to my wife that I was arrested here while driving with another woman it's going to break up my home." Tears almost glistened in Jack's eyes, and the officer was affected to the point where he tore up the ticket he was about to give the offending driver. As the couple drove away, the woman turned to Jack and said: "Haven't you a wonderful nerve? The woman was Jack's wife."

Mrs. George W. Walker of Warren has been reading with interest about stores of olden times in the city of Rockland, and remembers very well, as a girl boarding in Rockland, while attending school in that city, of the W. H. Keene Variety Store near the "Brook." This store fascinated her as a child, Mr. Keene having birds on one side of his establishment, among them parakeets. He also sold jewelry. He presented an interesting figure himself, habitually wearing a tall hat and a grey shawl. Mrs. Walker then was boarding at the Keene home. Mrs. Keene's brother, during the Civil War, died in the arms of the late General Ellis Spear of Warren, and General Ellis married his widow. A daughter born of this lady's former marriage, is wife of the Rev. Mr. Little of Bangor, and they have a cottage at Martin's Point, Friendship.

Pipes have a strong hold on some men, and some men have strong hold on their pipes. There was for instance the man who broke through the ice of Georges River, and was in the frigid water a long time before being rescued. Deputy Sheriff "Ern" Gray who tells me of the incident is authority for the statement that his pipe was still in his mouth when he was dragged ashore.

What would be the length of four equal sides of a perfect square holding one acre or 43560 square feet? This question is asked by I. J. Shuman, who ranks as an ace when it comes to mathematical matters.

One year ago, George B. Wood resigned as president and director of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Co. Inc.—R. S. Sherman was re-elected moderator of the First Baptist Parish—Eight Knox County men to the Navy recruiting station, with George L. Armstrong of Rockland as leader—Among the deaths: Charles E. Baum, 76, of Clark Island.

MUSIC
Let me go where'er I will,
I hear a sky-born music still;
It sounds from all things old,
It sounds from all things young,
From all that's fair, from all that's foul Peals out a cheerful song.
It is not only in the rose,
It is not only in the bird,
Not only where the rainbow glows,
Nor in the song of woman heard,
But in the darkest, meanest things,
There always, always something sings.
Tis not in the high stars alone,
Nor in the cup of budding flowers,
Nor in the redbreast's mellow tone,
Nor in the bow that smiles in showers,
But in the mud and smum of things,
There always, always something sings.

Book Review

K. S. P.

Age Of Thunder. Author, Frederic Prokosh. Publishers Harper and Brothers, New York.

One finds in this story of a journey on a secret mission, most compelling in its urge to keep on to the end. Woven into the tale are contacts with many nationalities as the nocturnal passage across occupied France in the present war progresses. With the business of war is woven a deep and intimate study of persons met during the journey. There is as so often in modern novels, a lack of niceness in respect to personal sensibilities.
Things spoken of which are not necessary—otherwise the author has created a story of beauty and charming grace with a high degree of literary charm and with far more than just a war record of things of the moment.

It is a poignant study of a large group, through the five highly dramatic nights of the journey. The love story is gracefully real and romantic. The author has clear originality in his characters and his style is distinctly artistic, even superb in spots. Mr. Prokosh is also a poet and it has been said of him. There are lines in his poetry which express more truth about contemporary history than many whole volumes of recent political comment.

By all odds a penetrating story of the present conquest in Europe.
Kathleen S. Fuller.

Sergeant Nelson Of The Guards.
Author, Gerald Kersh. Publishers,
The John C. Winston Company, Philadelphia.

A unique and convincing novel.
It will remind you of the fine things Kipling gave us in his character painting of the British Tommy. The marvelous fidelity of his spirit blooms all through the chapters and one weeps and laughs and reads on, to find how firm in the lives of these warriors is England planted in their hearts.

Gerald Kersh is one of our most colorful novelists. He paints with a master brush in his books, his magazine articles, his newspaper stories and whatever comes to hand with vigorous bold and bristling sureness.

Sergeant Nelson of the British Regular Army, is here told of in all his wild swagger and general steady work. The story will open your eyes to the spirit and courage and faith in the outcome of these British fighting men.

[EDITORIAL]

THAT THE LEGISLATURE DID

The 92nd Maine Legislature which closed Saturday night may take unto itself no small amount of credit for having safeguarded the State's accumulated surplus of $6,000,000 in spite of notable achievements.

Foremost among these was the far-reaching advances in education; and the definite and constructive steps in the establishment of a practical postwar pattern, meantime staying within the bonds of anticipated operating revenue, and without imposing any additional taxes.

The Legislature favored a measure whereby $1,000,000 of the general fund surplus would be earmarked as a postwar public works fund and added to the $1,000,000 set aside for a similar purpose by the 1943 Legislature. The remainder of the State's surplus, except for items to which the State was previously committed, remains untouched. Gov. Hildreth, one of the leaders in the fight to set up the original postwar fund, praising the addition of another million dollars to the fund said: "This measure is in no sense an attempt to provide our returning veterans with any form of WPA employment. It is a soundly financial program, filling long-term needs, that will implement the efforts of private industry and local communities to provide employment by making available at a time when our economy may be spiraling downward a work-pile of public works projects that have been approved by the Maine Legislature as sound and of lasting benefit to the State of Maine."

The Legislature also authorized a committee to study trade school needs for returning Maine veterans, and at the same time enacted an administration-endorsed Veterans' Preference Bill for State employment.

More than passing notice will be paid to the suggestion of Representative Robert Hale of Portland that Presidents of the United States be selected from among the members of Congress. He advances as the chief reason for this radical change that "the prestige of Congress would be greatly enhanced and that harmony between Congress and the Chief Executive would be assured."

Whether Representative Hale has been mulling this over for some time, or whether he is emboldened by the fact that the present Executive comes from the Congressional ranks we do not know, but what would we all do without the excitement which is provided by the quadrennial presidential campaigns. At first ground hop it would seem as if the selection of a Congressman might inspire jealousy rather than harmony, but somehow we do not expect it would materialize for quite some time.

Eyes will now be fastened upon Kentucky where Republican Governor Simon Willis will have the opportunity of naming a successor to U. S. Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler who has just been named national baseball commissioner. It would be within his province to name himself, as Chandler did in 1939, or to name some other Republican. Kentucky's opportunity to gain a Republican Senator seems too good to pass up.

A woman who does the family marketing, and exercises a discriminating eye upon the contents of the various counters, speaks in very commendatory terms of the elaborate stock of vegetables which the large stores have been carrying throughout the winter. Practically everything which is raised in northern vegetable gardens has been obtainable and in surprisingly fresh condition.

Riding over some Knox County highways one perceives a multitude of caterpillar nests and knows that trees and other foliage will soon be swarming with the loathsome worms unless immediate steps are taken to prevent the invasion. It is not a credit to the town officials who permit this nuisance and is certainly a blot upon the scenery of which we so proudly boast.

WHEN THE HORSE-TRADING IS DONE

The shock of the news about Poland is the best kind of prelude for San Francisco.
It should jar the people into an awareness that many vital questions are still settled—and will be settled—through the old channel of diplomacy. Like a lightning flash it furnishes a nightmarish glimpse of what could happen were the Big Three to fall out. It should put new energy into the great plans for keeping them together and working with the small powers.

A very sharp bit of horse-trading power politics is in process. Russia's purpose apparently is to make sure of her influence over the Government of Poland. Moscow has been playing on the British and American desire to get a world organization started as soon and as effectively as possible.
In exchange for full Russian participation at San Francisco, Marshal Stalin has been insisting on British-American acceptance of his puppet Government for Poland.

Moscow's making of a treaty with this regime—set up by Russia first as the Lublin Committee and repeatedly described as not fully representative of the Polish people—may not end all hopes for an agreement under the plan announced at Yalta.
By that plan a British-American-Russian commission was to consult with democratic Polish leaders and revise the Lublin committee to form a new coalition Government. After two months the commission has failed to agree. It is hard to believe that Marshal Stalin intended at Yalta to make the commission a farce and to keep the Lublin committee without any modification. It may yet be revised—when the horse-trading is done. Christian Science Monitor.

Awarded Air Medal

Pvt. Harry Lind of Rockland Followed Trail "Over the Hump"

Air Transport Command Base, India.—Private First Class Harry Lind, aerial radio operator, of 9 Linden street, Rockland, Maine, has been awarded the Air Medal, it has been announced by Brig. General William H. Tunner, commanding general of the India China Division, Air Transport Command.

The award was made upon completion of 150 hours of operational flight in transport aircraft over the dangerous and difficult India China air routes, where enemy interception and attack was probable and expected.

The trail "over the Hump," famed air route through the towering peaks of the Himalaya Mountains, blazed by the Air Transport Command, is recognized by airmen as the world's toughest. Today the Hump route is the main lifeline of vital military supplies for Allied forces fighting in China. The citation accompanying the award reads:

"Flying at night as well as by day, at high altitudes over impassable mountainous terrain, through areas characterized by extremely treacherous weather conditions, operation on instruments requiring courage and superior performance of his duties to overcome, he accomplished his mission with distinction."

A ceremonial session of Kora Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, will be held in Lewiston tonight at 8 o'clock, preceded from 4:30 to 7 by the traditional banquet. The newest member of the Divan is Earle C. Perry, outer guard.

A Canning Center

Citizens of Rockland Called Upon To Answer Two Questions Tonight

Is Rockland to have a canning center this year is the question that is being asked by many women. Last year, despite the hot weather and late gardens the Center was undeniably a big success. Whether or not we again have the Center depends entirely upon the citizens of Rockland, particularly the mothers of those children, who benefit by the hot, well balanced school lunches, at such low cost.

Robert Lunt, superintendent of schools, has called a meeting at the High School, tonight at 7:30, and the question will be discussed.

As the State has withdrawn its financial aid, and the City, not knowing there was any thought of having a canning center this summer, made no allowance for it when preparing the yearly budget—can, and will, the citizens of Rockland financially aid the operations of a canning center.

Organizing and setting up a Center requires much planning and work, with many workers. Can the women of Rockland be depended upon to do their share in this particular Community Service, by donating a certain amount of time each week the Center is in operation?

The hospital and surrounding towns will, of course, have the use of the Center, as in previous years. It depends entirely upon the answers to these questions whether or not Rockland has a canning center this summer. All interested are urged to attend the meeting tonight.

Inadvertently, in connection with a personal item concerning Mrs. Bernice Reams, which appeared in Tuesday's issue, it was stated that her husband has a service record of 23 years with the Navy. It should have read, "U. S. Coast Guard."

Rockland Lions

Hear Radio Chief Tell His Interesting Experiences—Next Week, "Lasting Peace"

Melvin H. Torpacka, Chief Radioman, U. S. Coast Guard, of the St. George road, Thomaston, home on leave, was speaker at the Lions meeting Wednesday noon.

Mr. Torpacka, who enlisted in 1939, when he was 19 years of age, saw his first service on the 243-foot Coast Guard Cutter, Chelan, which was on Neutrality Patrol in the Atlantic. He said of this, "at the time it did not look much like neutrality" and the "biggest enemy was the weather."

Subsequent service was on the Faunce in 1940, caring for vessels in distress, and later out of Norfolk, was engaged in mine laying and mine sweeping. His craft was known as "the guide boat" and while on that kind of duty met and assisted in bringing to our shores for repairs the British carrier Illustrious and the battleship King George.

Torpacka, at the time of Pearl Harbor, was about to go on leave, but was transferred to the office of the Captain of the Port in Boston. His duties there were in connection with the clearing of merchant vessels and giving them proper identification. Following this he went to Avery Point, Groton, Conn., where he studied radar, saying, "It is the most wonderful of inventions we have, and how it operates is still a military secret."

Returning to Boston he was assigned to the Cutter Storrs, a 240-foot ice-breaker, which was sent to Greenland, with a stop at St. John's, Newfoundland. After that, the craft was sent to Iceland, where the main object was to prevent the Germans from establishing weather stations. Several interesting incidents were related, including the handling of 60 German prisoners on his vessel at which time he did not hear the name of Adolf Hitler mentioned once, and the interception and capture of a German trawler.

Torpacka's interesting talk was supplemented with the showing of an album of personally made photographs, most of which were taken in Greenland, Iceland and aboard his vessel. He was introduced by Harley C. Fisher, program chairman. A. Everett Libby of the Vinalhaven club was a visitor.

President Bradford B. Burgess told of the observation by Lions all over the country of the United Nations Conference on International Organization. This includes a discussion, by club members, of the following four questions:

- (1) How is it to our interest to have a lasting peace?
- (2) Do we want an international organization to maintain the peace?
- (3) If any international organization to maintain the peace is established, what kind of organization should it be—one such as outlined in the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, or do you have a suggestion as to a different kind of organization?
- (4) Are we willing for the protection of our own future security and interests and for the security of the world, to co-operate fully in such an organization?

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers realize nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may lead to rheumatism, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning soon show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney troubles flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

For Extraordinary Heroism On Biak Island Last May and June
Award given to the 476th Anti-aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion of which Cpl. Richard A. Trask, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Trask of Appleton, is a member. It reads:
"For extraordinary heroism on Biak Island, Schouten Island Group, from 27 May to 3 June, 1944. On 27 May, elements of this Battalion landed with the assault waves on Biak Island, the batteries arriving on later waves, after successfully overcoming the most serious and discouraging delays and problems in the preparation and equipping for combat.
"Primary and secondary missions were performed meritoriously during combat. In 12 low altitude surprise attacks between 27 May and 3 June, they destroyed 16, probably destroyed 1 and damaged 7 of 33 attacking Japanese aircraft which came within range of the battalion's weapons, thereby averting loss to personnel, supplies, and equipment on the restricted and crowded beachhead at Bosnek. The battalion's disastrous fire power forced the enemy to scattered high altitude bombing, greatly reducing their accuracy.
"A high degree of courage was displayed in repulsing numerous enemy ground attacks while in close support of front line infantry units, one battery being cut off completely for one night. They, on one occasion, manned a section of the perimeter for seven successive nights under heavy fire, and enemy attack during the day they served their anti-aircraft weapons.
"Their performance of duty has been outstanding and distinctive not only by their exemplary anti-aircraft achievements but by their conspicuous heroism as infantry men and reflects the highest credit on the United States Army."

Appleton Boy Cited
For Extraordinary Heroism On Biak Island Last May and June
Award given to the 476th Anti-aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion of which Cpl. Richard A. Trask, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Trask of Appleton, is a member. It reads:
"For extraordinary heroism on Biak Island, Schouten Island Group, from 27 May to 3 June, 1944. On 27 May, elements of this Battalion landed with the assault waves on Biak Island, the batteries arriving on later waves, after successfully overcoming the most serious and discouraging delays and problems in the preparation and equipping for combat.
"Primary and secondary missions were performed meritoriously during combat. In 12 low altitude surprise attacks between 27 May and 3 June, they destroyed 16, probably destroyed 1 and damaged 7 of 33 attacking Japanese aircraft which came within range of the battalion's weapons, thereby averting loss to personnel, supplies, and equipment on the restricted and crowded beachhead at Bosnek. The battalion's disastrous fire power forced the enemy to scattered high altitude bombing, greatly reducing their accuracy.
"A high degree of courage was displayed in repulsing numerous enemy ground attacks while in close support of front line infantry units, one battery being cut off completely for one night. They, on one occasion, manned a section of the perimeter for seven successive nights under heavy fire, and enemy attack during the day they served their anti-aircraft weapons.
"Their performance of duty has been outstanding and distinctive not only by their exemplary anti-aircraft achievements but by their conspicuous heroism as infantry men and reflects the highest credit on the United States Army."

Cooking School Days are here again. The first of a series of free schools of electric cookery will be held May 3 at 2 o'clock in the big Temple Hall electric kitchen in this city. Miss Eleanor-Mary Dougherty, Home Service Advisor for the Central Maine Power Co. will be in charge.

Miss Dougherty will take opportunity to discuss other valuable home making hints during the series such as meal planning, marketing, kitchen planning, use of small appliances, lighting, laundry etc.

Everybody is warmly welcome at each of these schools. Notices will be given in The Courier-Gazette in ample season so that plans can be made to allow all interested persons to attend. LET CONGRESS SEE Never in history have two nations sunk as low as Germany and Japan. That they have nearly run their course is beside the question. There is little to choose between them; they are murderous lustful beasts.

From the Pacific and from Europe comes the same sadistic story. Think of a people that, because the war is running against them, huddle 1100 men, women and children in a barn filled with hay and throwing in a torch set the barn on fire, and as long as possible, open the door to jeer at their dying agony. They have tortured and killed millions of civilians that had no part in the fighting. The British have sent a committee from Parliament that they may see with their own eyes what mass crime and murder means. The Russians know.

Americans have been asked to send a committee of 20 Congressmen and unimpeachable citizens of character to judge at first hand the doing of these criminals, to their war prisoners.

From the Pacific comes a similar appeal to witness the brutality of an Asiatic people who slay; withhold drinking water; and mutilate those who have fallen into their bloody hands; woman subjected to 48 hours of continuous rape.

The blood of the dead cry out from the stones in the street against prisoner compounds, where these fiends are given warm clothes and warm quarters and fed better food than Americans can afford—provided with ice cream and Coca Cola as has been done in this State; cigarettes plenty for them.

"Vengeance is mine, I will repay" said the Lord God, but only fools will close their eyes to such atrocities. If Americans deal softly now with these beasts, they will be untrue to those sent that citizens may live on in comfort for a few short years to come.

The Memory Man

Here's Conclusion of His Dream Concerning The "Master Race"

(Second Installment
By Free Member)

I looked at the red welt on my wrist—caused by him when he struck me with the knife handle—and made a mighty effort to hold down my anger as I said, "Go on, bold German, boast of your beastly acts, tell me more."

"Gladly," he sneered. We, the Master Race, despise you weak Americans. You are not only weak but simple minded. Why, when, for some reason not at all our fault, our fighting men are hard pressed our wise generals give the order to surrender, knowing full well that we will be royally treated as prisoners of war, while your fighting men continue to suffer and die in battle. In this way we live to fight another war when we are once more strong. Why, even here, in our prison camp, we continue to train our soldiers—we live our customary German lives while you feed us—you dare not do otherwise. Do you wonder that we despise you?

"We, the Master Race, destroy our enemies. We herd them in lethal chambers, press a button and exterminate them—which, to my way of thinking, is a slight weakness on our part. In this way death comes too easily."

Our usual way is, I think, much better. Butcher, shoot, maim, kill—this is a much better way—it fills the enemy with dread and causes him to fear us more. Yes, I nearly forgot to mention the latest war horror which our brilliant scientists have invented—our Rocket Bomb! Ah, there is a weapon which comes from the air, pilotless, descending on helpless people and rending them limb from limb and striking terror to the hearts of all living creatures—

"Stop!" I cried. "You foul mouthed, evil minded, spawn of hell, child of the devil, listen to one who fears you not. The day of the Master Race is done, the vengeance of the God you have denied is about to descend upon you and your vaunted Master Race will be humbled. Unconditional surrender and punishment for your dastardly crimes is about to be meted out to your whole nation and the dead are rising in judgment of you."

"You swine," he snarled, "How dare you talk to your master? You are only one while we in this camp are many and I have no thought to allow such as you to escape and roam the country to malign the Master Race. No, I have decided to make an end of you—prepare to die!" So saying he ordered his men to fall upon me and rend me limb from limb.

This was what I had been waiting for. (Anything can happen in dreams!) I let down the flood gates of my anger, rose easily from the ground and kicked, with both feet, the face of the Germ who had been talking with me.

From then on, I whirled, dived, slashed, kicked, pummeled and smashed right and left. I seemed to be unconquerable and the few blows those heathens were able to land on me hurt not at all and the more Germs I knocked sprawling the madder I became. "Beware the fury of a patient man." Well, whoever invented that phrase must have meant free for I was filled with a fury that almost consumed me and I flayed those demons from the bowels of hell so valiantly that the whole company soon raised their blood stained hands and cried "comrade" with great fervor.

I lined them all up and walked down the line and slapped each ugly face as I passed it. Then I picked up the knife used on my wrist, stood the culprit who had struck me, on his feet and beat his face to pulp, with the same handle which had bruised my wrist, until he begged for mercy.

I then gathered up all the butter and food and made the whole company lie face down in the dust while I made my exit, and until I passed beyond sound, the moans of those beaten Germs assailed my ears.

When I awoke my quilts, sheets, blankets and pillows were scattered all over my bedroom and I was doing a war dance in the middle of the room.

I guess I strutted a bit—had I not, single handed, licked a whole company of lousy Germs I hunted for the butter and food I had taken from them and—laughed when I realized that it was just another of my dreams!

Rockland Men Met

Capt. Dick Reed and Corp. Bernard Winchenbach Swap Notes

In the Palais, April 11.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—The other day I ran across Corporal Bernard J. Winchenbach of Rockland and he was the first home town boy I have seen since coming overseas 10 months ago. Strangely enough he had been working on our planes at this base in the Palais for six months and we never happened to meet.

The other day while on the line making some pictures of a 40-mission Liberator bomber crew just in from blasting a Jap target in the Philippines, I noticed Winchenbach. He looked familiar and after we had stared at one another we introduced ourselves.

He is an aircraft mechanic with a 7th AAF Service Group and came to this island in the early days when the Japs were being driven out and were on the rampage. Bivouacked in the ruins of a village, while the rubble was still smoking, Winchenbach and other members of his outfit were on the hot seat.

They were a few hundred yards from the front and got more than their share of grenade throwing, infiltrating, sniping, knife handy, crazy Nips. Winchenbach came through without a scratch but had plenty of close calls.

For some time now he has been busy helping to maintain the bombers of the 7th AAF Group, to which I am attached as a combat correspondent. Although Winchenbach may never see the Philippines, he shares credit in the reconquest of the islands. The planes have to be kept in condition if they are going to fly and his gang are the lads that have been doing the work and in a superior manner.

He is a bit thin, as we all are, but is in good health and mighty anxious to get back to his beloved home town. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winchenbach, 48 Front street, and worked for the Lime Corporation before entering the service in August 1942. He came to the Pacific last June.

This City faces a vital problem in keeping intact our own Company B., Maine State Guard. More enrollees must be had and now!

ATTEND THE PUBLIC MEETING

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2

AT 7.30 P. M. IN THE

ARMORY, SPRING STREET, CITY

Every citizen should attend this brief but vitally important meeting. Col. Lester M. Hart, Asst. Adj. Gen., will be the chief speaker. Patriotic organizations, Service Clubs and supporting groups will be represented at speakers' table. Opportunity will be given to inspect the splendid equipment of the Company.

The internal security of the State is dependent on the State Guard. We need Company B. and if we are to keep it, it must be expanded. It is urgent that men in our community, 16 to 50, enroll in the Company now. State Guard training offers many advantages for the 16-year old boys—specialized training in radio, transportation etc., as well as the Basic Training discipline so vital at this time. In all times of emergency—great fires, disasters, escaped prisoners, lost persons and civil disturbance, the State Guard lends its aid.

PROCLAMATION

April 25, 1945

Governor Horace Hildreth has recently issued a proclamation designating the week of April 29 to May 5 as State Guard Recruiting Week.

Because of the great need of keeping our own Company B of the State Guard at peak efficiency, I urge all our citizens to support this campaign, that young men of High School age as well as older men enroll in the Company in order that proper strength, training and preparation for any emergency may be attained.

The State Guard unit has proven its great value to the community in emergencies without number in times past. It behooves us all to lend our earnest support to its plea at this time.

E. R. VEAZIE,
Mayor.
